

CERINA VINCENT as Marisa Costa

Upon first glance Cerina was an unusual choice as the lead in a romantic comedy. Having been touted as a "scream queen" after her terrifying turn in CABIN FEVER, she quickly became the go-to girl of horror films; but within minutes of walking into the room it is obvious there is much more to this dark haired beauty. Not only is she strikingly gorgeous, she is an equally funny and nice person that is up for anything- who wouldn't fall in love with her? She brings out all of her charms as Marisa Costa, a Veterinarian that is down on love but up for a good challenge in EVERYBODY WANTS TO BE ITALIAN.

Cerina's comedic chops can also be seen in the film ONE PART SUGAR (2008), where she plays Danny DeVito's wife. Look for her as one of the leads in Queen Latifa's new pilot "Wifey" for VH1 and BET, as well as in the Showtime pilot, "Manchild."

Cerina also works hard as a writer. She co-wrote the witty, sexy, fun diet book HOW TO EAT LIKE A HOT CHICK, which comes out in December 2007 with HarperCollins Publishing. (Go to www.heydayproductions.com for more info on the book). Cerina has also written several TV Pilots that have garnered attention from some of television's top producers, and is known throughout the industry as the "scream queen who writes horror movies." One of her horror scripts, ADRENALINE, is set to move into production in late 2007.

After moving from Las Vegas to Los Angeles when she turned 18, Cerina instantly landed a role that showed off both her acting skills and athleticism as Maya, The Yellow Power Ranger in the Fox series, "Power Rangers Lost Galaxy." She quickly went from a TV super hero to a silver screen sex symbol as "Areola" in NOT ANOTHER TEEN MOVIE. But Cerina is not only recognized for her fit, natural physique. She was nominated for the Saturn award's "Best Face of the Future" for her outstanding lead performance in the horror sensation, CABIN FEVER. Cerina's face can also be seen along with some of the biggest television stars in her guest-starring roles on shows such as, "Ally McBeal," "Felicity," "Malcolm in the Middle," "Sex, Love and Secrets," "CSI," and "Bones." She has done numerous indie horror movies, starred in the action thriller IT WAITS, and showed her edgier, more dramatic side in DARKENED ROOM, a short film created for her and directed by David Lynch.
